

The objective is to determine the angle at which the ball detaches from the guide. The guide is circular with radius R . To parametrize the polar coordinates.